Activ-Statement

Delivering More than Cost Saving

The simple account statement is an opportunity waiting to be turned into a rich tool for enhancing customer satisfaction and deepening customer relationships while reducing operational costs.

With the increasing cost on paper and printing, and the recent hikes in postal charges, organizations are looking at alternative way to deliver account statements to their customers.

Activ-Statement is a personalized, dynamic account statement that is delivered electronically via email. The electronic statement is encrypted to maintain its confidentiality and is sealed in a secure digital envelope that is time-stamped to ensure integrity of content.

Benefits of Activ-Statement:

- Tremendous savings from reduced costs associated with preparing and delivering paper statements.
- Electronic delivery offers an opportunity to provide additional information, deeper content and interactivity not readily possible via the normal paper channel.
- Opportunity to provide greater value for the customer and generate more sales opportunities than are possible with paper methods.
- For the customer, it is more convenient than paper statement. No special document viewers or client software are required.

Features and Functionalities:

- Activ-statement is viewable offline and printable.
- Data in the statement can be downloaded into popular financial planning programs such as Microsoft Money.
- Digital certificate-based encryption ensures that the Activ-statement cannot be read by unauthorized parties.
- Data can be pulled from different accounts or external sources and presented as a consolidated view in one statement.

Additional features:

- Complete auditing of message creation, delivery and use.
- Automatic notification of unopened statements.
- Notification of unsuccessful statement delivery.
